

MISSION STATEMENT

The NYC Department for the Aging works in partnership with community-based organizations across all five boroughs to deliver services that help older adults remain in their homes and communities.

✓ NYC Aging · Commissioner's Message —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/commissioners-message.page>

STATED GOALS

NYC Aging is committed to providing inclusive and accessible services for all older New Yorkers. All City residents, regardless of immigration status, may access NYC Aging and other City services.

✓ NYC Aging · Commissioner's Message —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/commissioners-message.page>

PROBLEMS SOLVED

Home-delivered meals help combat malnutrition, helping older adults maintain their health and independence while aging in place.

✓ ACL · Nutrition Services — <https://acl.gov/programs/health-wellness/nutrition-services>

TARGET AUDIENCE

New York City is home to nearly 1.8 million older adults. Supporting their ability to live safely, affordably, and in good health is both a responsibility and a shared commitment.

✓ NYC Aging · Commissioner's Message —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/commissioners-message.page>

USERS / BENEFICIARIES

Local program services are available to those 60+, their spouses of any age, and individuals with disabilities who live in facilities occupied primarily by older adults receiving congregate meals.

✓ ACL · Nutrition Services — <https://acl.gov/programs/health-wellness/nutrition-services>

FOUNDERS

1975: The Office becomes the New York City Department for the Aging (DFTA). Alice Brophy is the first Commissioner.

✓ NYC Aging · History — <https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/history.page>

EMPLOYEES / CREATORS

These services include older adult centers, home-delivered meals, case management, caregiver support, mental health programs, volunteer engagement, and employment services.

✓ NYC Aging · Commissioner's Message —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/commissioners-message.page>

PARTNERS

The City's Age-friendly NYC: New Commitments for a City for All Ages initiative launched in 2017 with nearly 90 programs from agencies such as Housing Preservation and Development, the Departments of Finance, Health and Mental Hygiene, Parks and Recreation, the Department for the Aging, and New York City Emergency Management.

✓ NYC Aging · Partnerships —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/partnerships.page>

PARTNERS

The New York City Falls Prevention Coalition was established in 2010 as an Age-friendly NYC initiative. The New York City Department for the Aging and Department of Health and Mental Hygiene co-chair the Coalition.

✓ NYC Aging · Partnerships —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/partnerships.page>

AFFECTED COMMUNITIES

More than 300 centers throughout the City offer free art, fitness, and daily meals.

✓ NYC Aging · Home — <https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/index.page>

DATA REQUIREMENTS

Adhere to current Dietary Guidelines for Americans and are appealing Provide at least one-third of the Dietary Reference Intakes Comply with food safety state and local requirements

✓ ACL · Nutrition Services — <https://acl.gov/programs/health-wellness/nutrition-services>

INFRASTRUCTURE REQUIREMENTS

The Language Access Implementation Plan explains how NYC Aging will provide language access services to people who have limited English proficiency.

✓ NYC Aging · Language Access Plan —
<https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/language-access-plan.page>

LEGAL & COMPLIANCE LANDSCAPE

Authorized under Title III-C of the Older Americans Act (OAA), the program stands apart from traditional food assistance programs

✓ ACL · Nutrition Services — <https://acl.gov/programs/health-wellness/nutrition-services>

LEGAL & COMPLIANCE LANDSCAPE

The Older Americans Act and City charter require Department for the Aging to have an Advisory Council. The Mayor appoints all members, who serve for three years and aren't paid for their work.

✓ NYC Aging · Advisory Council — <https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/advisory-council.page>

CULTURAL NORMS

2022: Department for the Aging stops using the acronym “DFTA” on its website and social media channels to describe the agency, replacing it with NYC Aging, so residents have a clearer understanding of who the agency serves. The agency also stops using the term “senior” because of the negative connotations the word has in society.

✓ NYC Aging · History — <https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/history.page>

GEOGRAPHIC CONTEXT

1965: The Older Americans Act creates a nationwide aging network.

✓ NYC Aging · History — <https://www.nyc.gov/site/dfta/about/history.page>

INDUSTRY STANDARDS

Every day, the national Senior Nutrition Program serves nearly one million nutritious meals across the country through a network of about 5,000 local providers.

✓ ACL · Nutrition Services — <https://acl.gov/programs/health-wellness/nutrition-services>